It tires us even to think of the number of people we've waited on to-day.

If we were to say there was in the neighborhood of a hundred thousand here to-day, you might think it a slight exaggeration till you remembered who it was that said it. Crawford's and crowds are synonymous terms.

Indeed, we might call it two hundred thousand while we're about it, and you'd only say: "Well, I'm not so much surprised, for they're just giving dry goods away at Crawford's Clearance Sale, and I saw everybody I ever knew there."

We had a tremendous jam any way, and didn't pretend to wait on half the people. And we want to say right here that we DON'T guarantee immediate delivery of goods during this rush. If you must have your goods without delay, take them with you or hire an express wagon. We're doing the best the crowd'll let us.

SOME LIGHT UPON THE STORY THAT EMPRESS VICTORIA IS A PRISONER.

The Efforts of Emperor William and Prince Bismarck to Secure Certain State Papers and the Late Emperor's Political Testament—Chauncey M. Depew on American Politics—Gen. Boulanger Improving Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, July 16.—A Berlin correspondent throws some light upon the story that the Empress Victoria is virtually a prisoner. Although she is not under lock and key she is so surrounded by officials and soldiers of the court as to be free. It appears that certain State papers have disappeared. They are reports sent from St. Petersburg, Vienna and London by the German military attaches there and these papers were at Friedrichskron on the evening of the Emperor's death. They disappeared, however, the next day. Besides this, a certain political testament of Emperor Frederick has been sent to London and its return is specially desired. All attempts to recover these papers thus far have been made in vain. Emperor William has sent to turn all of his Ministers to his mother for information concerning these papers, but none of them have been received with the exception of Herr Friedberg, Minister of Justice, and a friend of the late Emperor. He was received, but obtained no information. It was following his failure that the access to the Empress was strictly guarded and has been so since. Prince Bismarck has been asked to make the last attempt, and in the event of a final failure it is stated that a formal judicial process will be brought against the Dowager Empress to secure the return of the papers. Prince Bismarck has certain plans to carry out. It is known that Emperor Frederick's political testament crosses this, and its publication might check his course. He would not care to place before the public in the light of encouraging the son to go directly in opposition to his father's wishes. Hence his anxiety to gain control of those papers and the scandalous course towards the Dowager Empress.

Two pleasant looking women were brought into the crowded court-room and given seats behind the desk. One woman was said to be the widow of the Duke of Württemberg, the other, the wife of the Emperor. Both made love while on their dynastic expedition in India and whose presence in court, brought about by the prosecution, was intimate, might be brought to day. Bowles, in his evidence, kept his eye on the United States Marshal's office and allowed to sleep, instead of on a plank, upon Commissioner Hoyne's lounge, which was brought in for that purpose.

THE GOVERNOR SLEPT.

A SINGULAR SCENE DURING THE APPEAL FOR MERCY FOR MAXWELL.

Gov. Morehouse Grew Weary and Nodded When He Should Have Been Wide Awake—The Prisoner's Attorneys Will Not Discuss the Incident—Maxwell Himself Very Sanguine About a Rehearing.

THAT Messrs. Martin and Fauntleroy, counsel for Maxwell, "the condemned murderer," are hoping against hope when they profess the belief that Gov. Morehouse will alter his decision and yet commute the sentence of the Four Courts prisoner, is emphasized by a circumstance attending the visit to Jefferson City that has just been brought to light, and which is meeting with some discussion by the many who are ever ready to seize upon a new point in the celebrated case. Mr. Martin when closely questioned by a Post-DISPATCH reporter this morning was extremely reticent and would admit nothing, but it nevertheless remained that Gov. Morehouse was not wholly attentive to the efforts of Maxwell's counsel when they put forth the sum total of their arguments in behalf of their client last week, and that the Chief Executive at one of the most interesting stages of the pleading actually slumbered. How long the sleep was protracted has not been ascertained, but it is certain that for some indefinite period during the progress of John L. Martin's election the dozing went on, and became unconscious of his surroundings.

This was on Tuesday of last week, the day preceding Mr. Fauntleroy's address, and while Mr. Martin was sleeping along the lines of letters received from lawyers more or less known to fame, setting forth reasons why the little chloroform should not hang him, but should be substituted by an innocent man. When the story of his Excellency's nap was bruited abroad to-day, comments were as many and as various as the commentators. Not a few argued wisely that the Governor's inattention to the sonorous pleadings of his legal friends was undoubtedly the basis to which much of the attorneys' faith in commutation had come to, to come to an end.

D. W. Wyatt, colored, formerly a teacher in the public schools out west, was called for Justice of the Peace Case this morning against F. V. Vandenberg, William West and C. B. Jones, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Brookings, S. D. The above-named parties are all colored and belong to the higher circles of that class. Wyatt also files suit to-day in the City Court for libel, asking $3,000 damages from the parties named.

New Warrants.

Pat Fitch is charged with stealing 25 cents from a little girl named Erwin Denicke. Pat is a year old and, it is said, is in the habit of stopping children on their way to school and robbing them of their money.

A warrant for fraud was issued against ex-Detective George Emmett, who is accused of defrauding Thomas Seward out of $2 on the jewelry he bought.

John W. Brown, the young negro who is alleged to have attempted to criminally assault Clara Osborne, also colored, is charged with common assault.

There is the charge against Emma Howard, who is accused of stealing $100 worth of clothing from Jennie Oliver.

Theodore Sacha charged Charles Rickertson with the same offense. Both the Governor and the Governor's wife did their best to shield the letters on Tuesday. "Nothing of the kind happened during Mr. Fauntleroy's speech," he concluded, "and I do not even say now that it did not happen." "I am sure," he added, "that I have been considering no such thing in the light of a further plea for commutation."

MR. A. J. P. GAERSCHE, referring to-day for an interview published with him on the case, said: "Your courteous reporter misunderstood my concluding words, uttered hurriedly and as I started off. What I did say was that I did not believe that Maxwell was guilty of a most dastardly murder and well deserving hanging, I would be opposed to his execution, because of the method of his conviction, and of the lack of innocence in the one fact of his intention in the dose of chloroform. If he contemplated murder it was a strange choice of means. If my law meant, strange that he not have preferred for disposal the knife with which he returned, as good to unwary persons, was continued by the city to give the officer a chance to swear out a warrant charging him with fraud. Sam Patch, was arrested some evenings ago by Officers Church and Costello for canning beer. Scott was discharged, and on trial for the same offense. He has been held for trial. He has just closed a canvass of the Northwest, and thinks his chances are very fair for several votes from that section of the State.

The Lafayette Primaries. By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH.

LEXINGTON, Mo., July 15.—Returns are slowly coming in from the outside points as to the result of the Democratic primaries of the campaign.

It is certain that the popular Collier Worthington has a ratification Saturday night. Seventy-five members of the Warner Club were present taking part in the affair. The affair was quite an extensive one. Major John Wellborne of this city and Mayor Branch of Higginsville were the speakers.

THEIR DEFENSE.

Saloon-Keepers Who Were Arraigned Before Judge Cady This Morning.

The following saloon-keepers and barkeepers arrested yesterday by the police for selling liquor without license were before Judge Cady this morning on that charge: Ende Weis, Henry Hessrich, Jr., Hans Hamburkner, George Schaefer, Henry Hessrich, Sr., Wm. C. Gross, Harry Allen, George H. Boeger (three cases), Fred Feldkamp, Fred J. Haas, Arthur P. Sullivan, Eugene Hooker, Frank Hoeftner (two cases), Joseph Meyer, Charles Raynor, Richard Helbring, Otto B. Becham (four cases), Frederick Moesener (two cases), Chas. Basa (two cases), L. Maeo, Richard Berger, Herman Schmitz, Edward Schmitz and Frederick Moesener. The bonds by failing to appear in an appearance, and the others took continuances. They all claim that Collector Sexton notified them that if they did not take out their license, at a certain time he would come and take it away. They say that date has not yet arrived. While this places matters in a peculiar light it does not protect them from prosecution because they are not protected by the Constitution. It is the Collector who is now prosecuting them. His notifications were of course sent on the supposition that they would attempt to sell liquor or keep open on Sunday.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Items of Interest Gathered To-day on the Other Side of the River.

Cora Bell, colored, aged 14, was arrested this morning for being drunk on the street.

William Campbell, who was arrested for theft some days ago, was bailed out this morning.

City Treasurer Martin Martell left the city this morning to spend several days in Evansville, Ind.

Mrs. James Bates died suit for divorce against William Bates to-day, charging him with cruelty and lack of support.

The Unions and the Green Diamonds played a game of ball yesterday for $4.50 a side. It resulted in a victory for the Green Diamonds, the score being 13 to 8.

John Roberts, colored, was arrested this morning for breaking and entering, and was ordered, with whom he was living. She charged him with beating and maltreating her.

Peter Conally, alias Scutty, was arrested this morning on a charge of larceny. The complaint comes from Mrs. Mary E. Noonan, who alleges that Conally stole a hat, a suit of clothes and a valise from them.

An ordinance that no carriages will be allowed to use the streets without a license is to be voted on at the next election. The purpose of the ordinance is to prevent the use of horseless carriages.

An answer to the inquiry he was told that Col. Hatch was Assistant United States District Attorney.

"He reminds me much of necessity, which knows no law," continued the Recorder.

This ill-informed comment on his official actions, "here is a copy of the session acts of 1888, the latest legislation on that subject.

OUR CIRCULATION

Daily Average Last Month, 32,163.

City of St. Louis, $2.
State of Mo.

Personally appeared before me, a Notary Public in and for the City of St. Louis, Mo., Ignaz Kappner, Business Manager, and John A. Dillon, Editor-in-Chief of the POST-DISPATCH, who deposes and say that the Average Daily Circulation of the POST-DISPATCH, including the SUNDAY issue, during the month of June, 1888, was (32,163) THIRTY-TWO THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-THREE COPIES.

I. KAPPNER,
Business Manager.
JOHN A. DILLON,
Editor-in-Chief.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 7th day of July, 1888.
(Seal.) BENJ. A. SUPPAN,
Notary Public.

The circulation of the POST-DISPATCH in the City of St. Louis is LARGER than that of any other newspaper. The books of the POST-DISPATCH are always open and Advertisers are requested to verify for themselves our statement that our City Circulation is the LARGEST.

MONDAY, JULY 16, 1888.

The indications for thirty-six hours, commencing at 3 p.m. to-day, for Missouri are: Cooler; local rains; followed Tuesday by fair weather; winds becoming northeasterly.

Notice.

Subscribers leaving St. Louis are notified that they can have the POST-DISPATCH sent to them regularly to any address by sending their change of address to this office.

MAYER FRANCIS' worst enemy has not accused him of being a civil service reformer.

THE SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH yesterday received and printed 64,414 words of telegraph service.

It is stated that the engineer of a train bearing a delegation of grangers to visit GEN. HARRISON at Indianapolis whistled "down brakes" and every man on the train rushed for the platform and tried to grab the brake-wheel.

JAN JONES says he is praying for a "President who is brave, a man who has a backbone like a circus pole." This indicates that the "Willibus-Wallopus" and the Democratic machine will run together for the next few months.

The cable dispatches describe the banquet of nearly all the Mayors of France as one of the unique features of Saturday's celebration in Paris. St. Louis beats Paris in that it could get up a pretty lively gathering of Mayors without going beyond the city limits.

It is earnestly to be hoped for the sake of courtesy between statesmen and the future of the code in France that Premier FLOQUET has apologized to Gen. BOULANGER for his awkwardness in holding his sword so that the General cut his neck on the point.

In the face of a recently adopted plan for pledging the party to protect with high tariff duties every product of this country, 116 of the 153 Republicans in the House voted to withdraw such protection from sugar, and only thirty-seven stood by Judge KELLY and the platform.

THIS SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH yesterday had the best political news, including a review of the whole local field; the best cable news, the best account of the race war in Crittenden County, Ark.; the best account of the dynamite trial in Chicago, the best account of the school-book row in Boston, the best reading matter of every kind, and the best of newspaper business generally in St. Louis.

THE statement that the employees of the city institutions are to be organized into a Francis Club suggests a number of unpleasant contingencies. Should the club be mustered out for a street parade or be called together for a meeting there are many possible conjectures as to what might happen at the institutions. The chances are that the inmates of the Workhouse would form a street parade on their own account, and the insane patients and the paupers would have a high old time. But the worst contingency of all would be the starting of a fire in any one of the buildings. The Mayor's friends in the city institutions will doubtless serve his interests and those of the city better by attending carefully to the duties for which they are employed.

A RUINED PLATFORM.

While the Chicago Tribune, the St. Paul Pioneer-Press and an imposing array of other leading supporters of the Republican ticket are open and persistent in their repudiation of the protection plank in the Republican platform, a large part of the protectionists themselves have repudiated it and have been arraigned, convicted and rebuked by JUDGE KELLY.

POST-DISPATCH,
513 Olive street.

LONDON OFFICES, 55 COCKSPUR STREET, CHARING CROSS.

has wandered into the metropolis. An engagement between the General and a troop of red-lipped, rosy-cheeked girls revives war memories in the neighborhood.

Chairman Quay.

From the New York World.

The selection of Senator Matt S. Quay as Chairman of the Republican National Committee means a campaign conducted upon the most approved machine principles. A more thoroughly unscrupulous politician than Quay does not exist in the United States. Bill Chandler and Steve Elkins are more "Sunday-school politicians," in the language of the Tribune, compared with him. His work and his methods were so bad that the stanch Republican organ, the Philadelphia Press, denounced his aspirations for a State office a few years ago, and threatened to bolt his nomination. But all the same Quay's talents are well adapted to the kind of work the Republicans have on hand this year, and the Democrats will find few weak points in his plan of campaign.

Guarding Home Industries.

From the Boston Herald.

In the window of a store in Washington is displayed a handkerchief embossed with stars at top and bottom for the States and Territories, with a small flag stamped upon it and the inscription:

"Protection
to American Labor
and American Industries."

Appended is this card:

"Republican Handkerchiefs, endorsed by the Chairman of the Chicago Convention. The only authorized Campaign Handkerchief. Imported Chinese silk."

WOMEN OF THE WORLD.

MME. NILSSON's farewell in London brought in $16,000.

MISS EDNA DEAN PROCTOR has given a drinking fountain to her native town, Henrietta, N. H.

A JUSTICE IN RED HOOK, N. Y., sentenced a girl to five years' confinement for the alleged theft of a canary bird worth about $1.

MRS. KENDAL, the English actress, has invented and patented a lamp and candle shade, and it is said that it brings her a handsome profit.

FRANCES MCNEILL POTTER, a niece of President Franklin Pierce, draws a pension of $20 a month, and is asking Congress for an increase.

MRS. M. W. RAVENHILL of New York beats the record of youthful grandmothers so far reported. She was 22 years old when her granddaughter was born.

A FOREIGN ITEM says: "At a dinner party given by the Baroness de Reuter at Richmond at the Star and Garter, over seventy poker players sat down together afterward."

A WOMAN'S Knights of Labor Assembly has been organized in Toledo, O. It has established a co-operative association for the sale of knit goods, hand-made garments, clothing and various home products.

MINNESOTA women want a law to compel a club to announce its intentions within four weeks after paying his first visit to a girl. The idea seems to be to fix a breach-of-promise suit on most of the young men.

MRS. GAINES of the Hocking Valley, told her husband to bring her home a new dress or she would jump into the well. He forgot the dress. She kept her word. It cost him $12 to get her out and have her bones mended.

DOUGAVER EMPRESS VICTORIA, widow of Frederick III., has an annual income of $200,000, $40,000 of which is derived from England. She will be obliged to make Germany her nominal residence, and to visit Berlin every year.

AMELIE RIVES CHANLER has a sister who is strikingly beautiful. She is petite and girlish in appearance, has dark, blue eyes and golden hair. Her complexion is one "whose red and white Nature's own sweet and charming hand laid on."

A PARISIAN Duchessa has bettered Sarah Bernhardt's tiger cub by adopting a real panther as a pet. She keeps it in a long cage, and gives it sun and air on the veranda, where she feeds it herself, stroking it through the bars of the cage as she does so.

MEM OF MARK.

JAY GOULD can't sleep, and shows a tendency to hypochondria.

ALLEN G. THURMAN is the name of the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State in Kansas.

JAN HORN STRAUSS has given up writing waltzes and will hereafter devote himself to composing grand operas.

The lumber used in John Brown's gallows is still preserved at Harper's Ferry, Va., and the owner wants $1,000 for it.

THE first land grant to a Harrison in Virginia was for 250 acres in Isle of Wight County, in 1637, to Ben Harrison.

PRINCE JEROME NAPOLEON and his son, Victor, have been reconciled. They will have a meeting with the Empress Eugenie soon.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND continues to receive curious presents. Two small, live red foxes have reached him from Dr. Frost, of Rolla, Mo.

THE Indians of New York State enjoy 125,000 acres of land, distributed among eight reservations, though whites hold some of the land.

MR. FULLER's confirmation as Chief Justice is almost certain whenever the case comes before the Senate. A number of Republicans have declared their intention to vote for him.

THE New York Sun reports that the father of Carter, the starboard stroke of the winning Yale boat, promised his boy $100 for every boat length Yale should beat Harvard. Result, $2,450.

CAPT. GREEN, famous the world over as "the reformed gambler," has been granted a permit to enter the Dayton Soldiers' Home, and has gone to spend the remnant of his days among the disabled veterans of the war. Mr. Green is about 80 years old.

GEN. HARRISON's maternal great-grandfather, John Cleves Symmes, who purchased from the Government the site of the city of Cincinnati, was not the propagator of the "Symmes hole" notion, but was the uncle and namesake of that fantastic theorist.

SENATOR EDMUND wears a yellow funnel shirt with a lace collar and a black crayon. The combination is unique, but scarcely becoming in style. Mr. Edmund is the first Senator to yield to the Eastern fad craze. William Walter Phelps wears a dark brown checked shirt with a flaming red cravat.
